MIK IN FOCUS

Hello Friend

I'm Mikayla, but you can call me Mik! I'm an early 20's mama to an adorable three-year-old boy, brand new baby girl, and a wife as of January 2024. With 8 years of experience in the photography industry, I have developed a keen eye for detail and an insane passion for cinematic moments.

I am based in both Michigan and North Carolina, but I'm always ready to travel and embark on new adventures. I have a love for exploration and the beauty of different locations.

With a focus on creating timeless and cinematic moments, I'm dedicated to telling your love story through my camera lens. I understand the importance of capturing the emotions, laughter, and tears that make your wedding day truly special. I'm here to ensure that every precious moment is preserved for you to cherish for a lifetime.

How I Shoot Weddings

When it comes to capturing Weddings and Elopements, I have a unique and versatile style that combines the best of both worlds. With a focus on candid moments and a documentary approach, I have a knack for capturing the raw and authentic emotions along with the genuine interactions that make each wedding day truly special.

I believe that the true beauty of a wedding lies in the unscripted moments – the laughter, tears, and stolen glances that happen naturally throughout the day. I like to ensure that every candid shot tells a story and evokes genuine emotions.

In addition to capturing candid moments, I also understand the importance of posed portraits. I believe that a good mix of candid, documentary style images along with posed portraits provide a timeless and elegant touch to every couple's wedding album.

By blending candid moments with posed portraits, I aim to create a well-rounded collection of images that truly capture the essence of the wedding day. The result? A visual narrative that not only showcases the love and joy of the couple, but also the atmosphere and emotions of the entire celebration.

Day-Of Photography Tips

ONE

Timeline

Creating a timeline of the day's events and sharing it with your vendors is essential to make sure everyone is well prepared for your day. It's a good idea to allow a little extra time between transitions or location changes from the ceremony to the reception on the off chance things are running behind. Make sure you talk your wedding shot list over with your photographer and schedule an appropriate time for photos into your timeline. Not sure if you set enough time aside for family photos, couple photos, etc? No worries! Ask your photographer, we can help!

TWO

Create a List for Family Photos

When creating your family shot list, include everyone's first names. This will allow you to sit back and relax while your photographer yells out names and rounds everyone up! Assign a photo helper, someone that knows your family and is comfortable grabbing them for photos if they wander off.

THREE

Details Shots

About a day or two before your wedding, start putting together a final details box for you and your significant other. This can include items like florals, shoes, perfume, your invitation, save the date, rings, vow books, and more. Inside your details box, you'll want to have items that you want captured by your photographer. It's a good way to look back and remember that you wore your great grandfather's watch or your mother's jewelry.

MIKAYLA GRAHAM PHOTOGRAPHY

Mik

I'm Mik, your main photographer. I have eight years of experience in the wedding photography industry and wouldn't change it for the world. On a random Tuesday, you can find me curled up playing video games with my husband, editing my life away, or snuggling my munchkins.

On your wedding day, I'm here to capture all of the big moments. From getting ready, to family portraits, couples photos, your ceremony, and more - I'm here to ensure we don't miss any of the details.

Andrew

This is my husband, Andrew! We're a wedding duo team, so I handle all of the communication and BTS work while he attends weddings with me and captures photos. Andrew started photographing weddings with me three years ago when a second shooter I had hired got sick the day before a huge wedding. I took him outside, taught him all day, and he absolutely ROCKED it at the wedding. Since then, we've been an inseparable duo.

Andrew is a ton of fun to be around and will be the biggest hype man at your wedding. From dancing with your grandma to capturing your significant other's tears as they read their vows, he's bound to be the perfect addition to your wedding day.

MIK IN FOCUS

KIND WORDS

“We literally couldn’t have asked for a better photographer duo. Mik and Andrew made sure our day was perfect. From helping me bustle my dress to breaking my husband out of his shell, they were nothing short of perfect. We have so many wedding photos that we cannot wait to share and it’s all thanks to them!”
